their love story

She's a "Chatty Patty" from Southern California, while he's a NorCal man of few words. Although outwardly different, Patricia and Edward complement one another perfectly. The summer of 2005 brought the couple together when they were vacationing with friends in the Greek Isles. Four years later Patricia and Edward were dining at a restaurant in San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf when she was presented with a sweet and "shiny" dessert along with a proposal.
